Summary

Fullstack developer focused on building modern e-commerce systems using TypeScript, React, Node.js, and PostgreSQL. Experienced in developing scalable backend APIs, admin dashboards, and storefront applications with a strong focus on transactional workflows, system consistency, and developer experience. Built and maintained a production-oriented commerce architecture including payment integration, caching strategies, CI automation, and variant-centric product management.

Projects

Commerce Core API 2025 - Present

- Built a production-oriented e-commerce backend using Node.js, TypeScript, PostgreSQL, and Redis.
- Designed transactional checkout workflows, payment webhook synchronization, and snapshot-based order architecture.
- Implemented integration testing and CI automation with GitHub Actions.
- Developed scalable APIs for products, variants, categories, collections, and order management.

Commerce Admin Dashboard 2025 - Present

- Built an admin dashboard for managing products, variants, orders, and store content in an e-commerce system.
- Developed a variant-centric product workflow with dynamic variant generation and flexible collection management.
- Implemented role-based access control, admin invitation flow, and session management features.
- Designed interactive content management features including drag-and-drop ordering and image cropping.

Commerce Storefront 2025 - Present

- Built a modern e-commerce storefront using Next.js, TypeScript, and TanStack Query.
- Implemented a variant-centric product browsing and checkout experience integrated with a custom backend API.
- Combined server-side rendering and client-side caching for performance and responsive data synchronization.
- Integrated shipping calculation and payment processing workflows with RajaOngkir and Midtrans.
